Pastor's Letter

"They are like a tree replanted by streams of water, which bears fruit at just the right time and whose leaves don't fade." Psalm 1:3

This passage from Psalms is something we pass every time we walk down the hallway at Trinity. They cover the doors to Trinity Hall and the passage itself speaks of the ideal faith community in relation to how we often get it wrong. As humans, we are not perfect. As trees, we are sometimes unrooted from the soil, growing in rocky lands, not producing fruits when needed, and we lose our leaves sometimes. As humans, like nature itself, we go through cycles of birth, death, and regeneration. We will see that in the leaves as the colors turn soon and get lost by the winter frost. Yet, we know that this process is needed for new growth in the spring and for new life to be created in the new year.

As people and organizations, we likewise need to have these times in our involvement where we think about our lives and decide what is important in our lives and how we might find our place in the world. Trinity is also in one of these times of change and finding our way anew in this season of God's mission for us as a congregation. People have returned to church, people are still online, people have left the church, and people have left us to be with our Lord. We have all changed and we are all in new places in our lives. We also as a church changed our committee structure to simplify it because we had more committees than members who could fulfill those positions. As we emerge from COVID, I would like us to be more intentional about our committees and ask more involvement from all of you in the work of the church. Over the next month, I will ask you to look at the committee structure chart on the left. Think about what you can do for Trinity in this season of your life and faith. Then tell me where your gifts are calling you. I want every person in the congregation to email or call me about which committee they will work with. If I do not hear from you, expect a phone call or home visit this month and we will talk about how your gifts could match a need in our church. As a church, we have been in a season of fall and winter during COVID and it is now our time as a community of faith to start preparing for our church to regenerate itself and spring forth new leaves and branches in our story of faith as a congregation. Yet, this will only happen if we all make and contribute our part of the mission in this living faith.

Pr. Andrew.

(November food drive)

Oct. 16
Congregational Life
(Thanksgiving and Advent Planning)

Council Highlights Sept. 12

- Communion will resume at the altar rail October 2nd. Persons present on Sunday, Sept. 11 voted, 19 yes, 3 no to return to the rail.
- Update on persons missing from worship since May 2021: five members have not attended; three have chosen other churches; two moved out of Topeka. Total loss in average attendance, including deaths, during COVID is 16.
- Financial update: year to date: spending $81,955; income to general fund $56,728; expenses over income $25,267. Pr. Andrew gave statistics on contributions comparing 2019 (pre-pandemic) to 2022 as of August 31. To break even with the current budget each giving unit (a couple is two giving units) would need to give $59 per Sunday. Council will be making decisions about 2023 budget including ways to meet budget or cut budget.
- We are invited to participate in Faithful Innovations Coaching, a year-long program through the Central States Synod and the ELCA. The purpose of this program is to assist us to discern our future path. We would form a 4-5 member team with one member of this team being a council member. Council agreed to pursue this opportunity.
- Pr. Andrew will be working ¼ time for ELCA as an Accompaniment Manager for the 2024 Youth Gathering, beginning January 2023. A ¼ time position with Central States Synod is pending. He plans to take some extended time off for personal and business related to ELCA/Synod needs. He will be away Oct. 23, Nov. 6 and 20.
- Central States Synod Border Conference, involving Kansas City and Topeka area churches, will meet here of October 16. Trinity members are invited to participate.
- Community Relations committee asked to have Doorstep donation receptacle moved to narthex.
- Maintenance committee reported that west window (back of church) is being repaired and repairs to south and east doors of church will be made along with painting. Elevator inspection completed at cost of $860.

On Sunday, October 16th, Trinity will be hosting the Synod Border Conference meeting, 3 pm to 6 pm. The Hospitality Committee will be providing refreshments for the afternoon.

We are asking for volunteers to serve as greeters and guides for our guests that day. Please call the office, 785.233.0767, or email office@topekatlc.org if you would be willing and able to help on Oct. 16th. It will be a great way to meet folks from other churches in our part of the synod.

Doorstep — October 2022

Happy Fall, Y'all!

The work has begun on our new HVAC system! Thank you to everyone who donated towards our 55th Anniversary Fund to make this upgrade possible, and completely paid for once complete!

The staff and volunteers have begun working on our annual Doorstep Christmas Adoption Project. We will adopt 260 households with 800+ individuals from the Christmas Bureau again this year.

What we really need right now are school supplies, especially as they go on clearance, and full-sized hygiene items to make the health kits. We need to have all of these items assembled and ready to hand out by Thanksgiving. This will allow us to focus on other aspects of the distribution process. We need to collect the following items in October:

School Supplies ~ Backpacks, spiral notebooks, folders, notebook paper (150-200 sheets), pens, pencils, crayons 24 ct., 12-inch rulers, scissors, erasers, highlighters, markers, pencil sharpeners, and glue sticks. Last year we provided school supplies for the second half of the year for 273 children.

Hygiene Items for the Health Kits ~ We have lots of towels! We need the items that go inside. Full sized items only please. We will make 260 kits to provide for 800+ individuals. We need shampoo, conditioner (2+1 ok), bar soap, toothpaste, toothbrushes, combs, brushes, and deodorant.

Bring donations to: Doorstep, Inc., 1119 SW 10th Ave, Topeka, Ks 66604. Office hours: Monday – Friday, 8am – 3pm, south door. Please let us know your donations are for Christmas!

Dear Tomah Shinga Family,

Today is the day I didn't imagine happening for a long time. This certainly isn't goodbye, as I will still be as connected to Tomah Shinga as I can. However, I have been offered the opportunity to be the VP of Advancement and Alumni at my alma mater, Bethany College. With that being said, I will be stepping down as executive director of Camp Tomah Shinga at the end of September.

Over the past 7 years, we have made some incredible memories together. Countless hikes, meals, morning worships, work projects, and the list could go on. These memories will be held close to my heart as my journey continues. It takes a village to run Camp Tomah Shinga, and there is a very good one surrounding it.

Camp Tomah Shinga is in a great place as its journey continues. Jordan Valentine is going to continue to offer impactful faith formation opportunities through summer camps and year-round retreats. The surface has only been scratched by how incredible Tomah Shinga can be for all people. I look forward to watching it continue to grow.

Thank you for your endless support, it wouldn't be the same without you.

Happy Camping, Jacob Spilker

Faithful and Fit

Faithful and Fit will continue through October. Meetings start at 5pm on Oct. 3rd, Oct. 17th, and Oct. 31st. The first half hour or so will be a book discussion. That will be followed by quick walk through the neighborhood up and down our new sidewalks on 8th Street.

We are reading Accidental Saints: Finding God in All the Wrong People by Nadia Bolz-Weber. It is an easy read, so please consider joining us, even if you haven't attended yet.

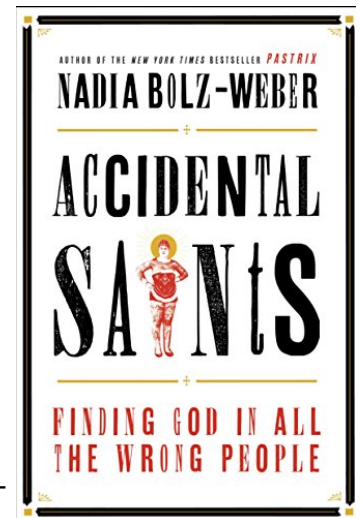

About the Book

In Accidental Saints, New York Times best-selling author Nadia Bolz-Weber invites readers into a surprising encounter with what she calls "a religious but not-so-spiritual life." Tattooed, angry and profane, this former standup comic turned pastor stubbornly, sometimes hilariously, resists the God she feels called to serve. But God keeps showing up in the least likely of people - a church-loving agnostic, a drag queen, a felonious Bishop and a gun-toting member of the NRA.

As she lives and worships alongside these "accidental saints," Nadia is swept into first-hand encounters with grace - a gift that feels to her less like being wrapped in a warm blanket and more like being hit with a blunt instrument. But by this grace, people are transformed in ways they couldn't have been on their own.

About the Author

Nadia Bolz-Weber is the founding pastor of House for All Sinners and Saints in Denver, Colorado. She is currently the first pastor in the ELCA to serve as a "Public Theologian" reaching people on all the major media platforms such as CNN, BBC, NPR, and Washington Post. She is the author of the New York Times best-seller memoir Pastrix.

Topeka High's Duane Pomeroy was partially paralyzed in 2020: "I wasn't sure I was going to make it"

Todd Fertig

Special to The Capital-Journal

Published Sept. 15, 2022

Topeka High tennis coach Duane Pomeroy swats practice shots to his players while sporting a tie tucked under his tennis shirt collar. Anything to keep the mood light. Each time Duane Pomeroy steps on the court, it's a blessing he wasn't sure he would enjoy a couple of years ago. In the fall of 2020, the longtime coach of the Trojans' boys and girls teams suddenly began to experience some strange physical symptoms, including loss of feeling in his extremities and declining strength and mobility. "I was losing more and more feeling on my right side and in my feet," Pomeroy said. "Eventually, it spread over my whole body. I made three trips to the emergency before they diagnosed that I had Guillain-Barre syndrome, which can cause paralysis. They're not sure what caused it, but it can sometimes be caused by a flu shot." Pomeroy was admitted to the hospital, where things continued to worsen. "By the time they diagnosed it, I could not move either arm or either leg. I wasn't sure I was going to make it," Pomeroy said. "But once they diagnosed it and I started getting better, then I began to become more optimistic."

After receiving IV treatments for several days, Pomeroy's condition stabilized. But he had a long road to recovery ahead. He was eventually transferred to the Kansas Rehabilitation Hospital, where he spent a month relearning the most basic of movements.

"I had a speech therapist to learn to swallow again. I had to learn to roll over again. It took a while to be able to sit up, and then to stand," Pomeroy said. "When they sent me home, I had to walk with a walker. Throughout that time, I wondered if I would ever play tennis again." But within just a few short months, Pomeroy had a racket in his hand. It turned out that years playing tennis had conditioned his body for a rapid recovery. "It helped keep (the symptoms) from being as bad as they are for some people. It helped with my recovery," Pomeroy said. "For example, in physical therapy, when I was learning to stand, I really struggled with my balance. They wanted me to try to squat. I felt like I was about to fall over. But then when I got to about here (with knees flexed about 15 degrees), I said 'Hey, this feels good.' I had my knees bent at what would be in tennis the ready position. They said: 'That's the muscle memory kicking in. We can work with that.' And my recovery went from there."

Pomeroy has had a long career of teaching and public service in Topeka. He was a member of the Topeka City Council from 1993 to 2005. He even stepped in as acting mayor for 81 days in 2003. He happened to be teaching government classes at Topeka High at the time, so his students were treated to a field trip to the mayor's office to see him on the job. Today, Pomeroy relishes those memories, and the fact that he's making new ones. After returning home from the hospital in mid-December 2020, Pomeroy was thankful just to be alive. "For a day or two there, I wasn't sure I was even going to survive. So I feel good to have a chance to enjoy all the things in my life," Pomeroy said. "My wife and I have our 50th wedding anniversary coming up next spring. Every day, every little thing just seems to be a blessing."

But Pomeroy felt he had to get back to coaching for his recovery to be complete. "It was important to me to be out here with these kids," Pomeroy said. "I was 68. I wasn't expecting to be able to get back to full strength, so I wasn't sure I would be able to coach. But I wasn't ready to quit." A motivation for Pomeroy to get back on the court: He was on the verge of becoming the longest-tenured coach in Topeka High School history. Though he didn't start coaching until he was 42, Pomeroy's 28 years now put him atop the list. "One thing I guess I did right — I timed it between the seasons," Pomeroy said, as girls play in the fall and boys in the spring. "That spring, I was back to coach the boys. I could stand and hit, but I couldn't run or move around. I couldn't serve because I couldn't raise my arm. "By the time of the girls season a year ago, I still had residual weakness and limits to my movement. I couldn't move fast or play hard. But the girls didn't see much of the effect the illness had on me."

His players say they are glad their coach didn't miss any time with them. "We were kind of scared," recalled senior Adisyn Caryl. "He's been my only tennis coach. We were like, 'What are we going to do without him?' He's been an important part of a lot of our tennis journeys. I'd never played tennis before. He really helped me become a player. Not just my skills, but showing me that I can play tennis. He's really laid back. He really calms us down so that we can play." Pomeroy is now doing more than just teaching the game. The man who less than two years ago could barely sit up or roll over in bed is now playing competitive tournaments at age 70.

But the best part is that he can continue working with young people. Pomeroy said he is particularly proud of teaching students whose families can't afford private lessons to become competitive players. "Nothing is neater than seeing the kids come in as freshmen and watching their development," Pomeroy said.

The players appreciate him just as much. "I was very relieved that he was able to come back, because I don't know what I would have done with someone else," Caryl said. "We're really glad that he's there for us."

LCM-KU (Lutheran Campus Ministry at the University of Kansas, housed in Westwood House) is holding their 100 year celebration on Reformation Sunday weekend, October 28-29 in Lawrence, KS. All are welcome to join.

We will be holding a silent auction as a part of this event to raise funds for the ministry. We are challenging congregations to donate to the auction in the form of a themed basket. Examples might include: "movie night" theme with popcorn, movie candy, movie tickets/dvds/netflix gift card, "family game night" theme with games and activities for families, "Kansas" theme (or your town) with local products We encourage you to get creative.

The baskets would need to be ready by October 23.

We would love to hear your intent to donate a basket by October 1. Should anyone have other products or items to donate for the auction, we would welcome other contributions. Any questions may be directed to Ministry Team Member, Jen Baldwin, jennifer.esbenshade@gmail.com, (717-371-7106).

Thank you for your support of the LCM-KU ministry.

Messy Church &

Trunk or Treat on Reformation Sunday October 30th

For our second year, we will be celebrating a special Reformation Day with Messy Church and a Trunk or Treat after worship. Children are welcome to wear their Halloween costumes to church and there will be a fun worship service created for them.

Janice Greenlee has volunteered to be the coordinator for the Trunk or Treat and you can contact her with any questions about how you can participate in all the fun!
